
Staying Grounded

Many situations in our everyday life can remind us of past events, but we do not have to let ourselves be re-traumatized. Grounding techniques can help us realize that we are in the here and now, and the feelings that are being triggered belong in the past. Here are some tips to staying in the moment.

Breathe deeply

Doodle

Ask yourself, “What do I need right now?”

Listen to the sounds around you

Self-massage; shoulders, neck, scalp or face

Notice the sensation of the clothes on your body

Notice the details of your surroundings; pictures, signs, furniture

Increase your physical sensations; scrunch your toes, rub your fingers and thumb together, wiggle your fingers, blink

Take a break, step out of the room

Grip your hands closed tightly together, then slowly release letting the tension go.

Meditate

Pray

Progressive Relaxation Exercise

Wrinkle your forehead

Squint your eyes tightly

Open your mouth wide

Push your tongue against the roof of your mouth

Bring your head forward to touch your chest

Roll your head to your right shoulder

Roll your head to your left shoulder

Shrug your shoulders up as if to touch your ears

Shrug your right shoulder up as if to touch your ear

Shrug your left shoulder up as if to touch your ear

Hold your arms out and make a fist with each hand

One side at a time, make a fist, bend your arm at the elbow, and tighten up your arm while holding the fist

Take a deep breath and hold

Tighten your chest muscles

Arch your back

Tighten your stomach area

Push your stomach area out

Pull your stomach area in

Tighten your hips

Push the heels of your feet into the surface where you are practicing

Tighten your leg muscles below the knee

Curl your toes under as if to touch the bottoms of your feet

Bring your toes up as if to touch your knees
